More a fun dance than a dull workout, this tape should have young viewers hip-hopping their way around their homes in no time. On a colorful set, host "Roger G" and five elementary-school-age kids demonstrate how easy most of the moves are, although some are demonstrated too quickly for inexperienced dancers to follow without the use of the rewind and slo-mo buttons. Filled with danceable music, this Parents' Choice-honored tape also recommends that parents supervise their kids and divide the tape into shorter segments so viewers can learn steps more easily.
